REVOLABS EXPANDS WIRELESS MICROPHONE OFFERINGS TO MEXICAN BUSINESS COMMUNITY

Partners with Mexican Distributor Almacenes Audiovisuales to Become First to Provide Wireless Microphone Products

MAYNARD, Mass., March 11, 2009 – Revolabs (www.revolabs.com), the leading provider of wireless audio products for enhancing collaboration, today announced a new distributor agreement with Almacenes Audiovisuales, S.A. de C. V. to continue their global product expansion.

Headquartered in Mexico City, Almacenes Audiovisuales will distribute the Revolabs Wireless Microphones and will provide service, training, and support for Revolabs. The agreement will continue Revolabs' global wireless microphone expansion and utilize the experience and network of Almacenes Audiovisuales who have been successfully distributing audiovisual products in Mexico for over twenty years.

"This agreement offers Revolabs the opportunity to leverage Almacenes Audiovisuales' broad recognition and presence throughout Mexico as a distributor of state-of-the-art A/V products," said Gregory Shalov, Revolabs Vice President of Sales, Americas. "We look forward to a long and successful business relationship with this well established, reputable company. Revolabs is proud to have Almacenes Audiovisuales promoting and distributing our products as part of our strategic growth initiatives," Shalov added.

"The market for audio and video equipment is rapidly growing and the Revolabs wireless audio offerings are ideal for businesses, educational institutions and government," said Tomas Gaitan, Almacenes Audiovisuales Founder and President. "The Revolabs products not only provide exceptional audio quality, they offer great value to expansion of our existing A/V product offerings."
